

Lundy

Ageless rock
You are an ocean jewel
A permanent place of peace and magic
That draws me back time and again
To replenish my spirit, to nourish my soul

Westerly wild
Easterly calm
Your unspoilt grace is Nature's balm

I tread upon your ground
In the footsteps of pirates and prisoners
And touch shipwrecked souls
On pitch black nights
When the wind and rain drive hard and unforgiving

Then in summer
When your rare gifts blossom
You sparkle bright and pure
Bathed in panoramic azure hues
Light everywhere, a painter's dream

Westerly wild
Easterly calm
Your unspoilt grace is Nature's balm

I miss your magic when I am away
But it comes to me now and then
A voice in the night, a beacon of light
Wight, Portland, Plymouth
Biscay, Fitzroy, Sole
Lundy

Westerly wild
Easterly calm
Unspoilt grace, Nature's balm
